

Between Love And Hate

Mystery

The curtain begins to fall
The world fades before my eyes
The rain hears my call
And there's no cloud in the sky

Forgive the world of all its crimes
And you'll become the ideal prey
Forget that love shines in her eyes
And you'll walk alone for days

Is there any other way?
Maybe it's just too late

The days seem so long
And the nights won't ever end
One day you're the best friends in the world
The next day just perfect strangers

Is there any other way?
Maybe it's just too late

Don't know the reasons why
I'm walking between love and hate
It's a quiet suicide
Walking between love and hate

Is there any other way?
Maybe it's just too late
Or is this the only way?

I'm dying all alone
In front of millions every day
They say love makes you strong
Am I too weak to ever say?

And I won't wait for the sun
To go down anymore
It's never been shining anyway

Is there any other way?
Maybe it's just too late
Or is this the only way?

Don't know the reasons why
I'm walking between love and hate
It's a quite suicide
Walking between love and hate

I must be having a bad dream
Still walking between love and hate
You must be having a good time
Pushing me between love and hate