

Queen Of Vajra Space

Mystery

She's very quiet, you'd never say
Go in her village and hear what they say
"She saw the Queen of Vajra Space"

He waits in line, he leaves his place
For everyone knows here, all rumors say
"He saw the Queen of Vajra Space"

The winds of east were fierce at night
The storm raged over sea
They lost contact with ships at large
They never thought to find a soul survivor

They found her as the sun arise
Asleep on the beach
She woke up merely hypnotized
She looked among the people and she smiled...

Here and now she stands
Speaking words of wisdom on the hill
They never knew she had so much to give

She saw the Queen of Vajra Space
A high tech disillusion, cyber reincarnation
Is she just playing the Ace of Spade?
To catch us in a web of a new religion
She saw the Queen of Vajra Space

Racers put their helmets on
And waited for the lights
Excitement of the crowd was high
As the engines roared across that starting line

He lost control, went off the road
In a great flash of light
He wrecked his car into the wall
It's a miracle he came out alive

Here and now he stands
Speaking words of wisdom in the field
Where many men would travel just to hear...

He saw the Queen of Vajra Space
Virtual destruction, mediatized corruption
Is he just playing the Ace of Spade?
To blind our eyes with his good reputation
He saw the Queen of Vajra Space

Come on!

Lost, they came back with stars in their eyes
For we praise the Queen of Vajra Space
They sowed the seeds of peace in our time
For we praise the Queen of Vajra Space
Oh Vajra!

Soon the war began again

The words were all forgotten
What the world would need to see
Is wait until another prophet dies!

Here and now they stand
Speaking words of wisdom to our children

Something to believe in
In the land of the rising sun
Our fate is arising
In the hands of our rising sons

Rising sun!
Rising suns...