

Through Different Eyes - Vi) Dancing With Butterflies

Mystery

Still the sorrow turns to pain
In the sound of falling rain

When I hear the children laughing
When I feel the mothers crying
Then I hear the music playing
I see you there with the butterflies
I can hear your echoes calling