

In Veiled Language (true Version)

Mythos

I don't wish you protection of mind and body. I don't wish you a life without pain and bewilderment. What would you do with a life like that, like what? But sometimes in some branch there you would have a presentiment. Just maybe this is the day, You won't forget after everything will be in a different way? In a quiet moment in a quiet places, suddenly understand, know what's true... We have talked about it!!! Just maybe this is the day, You won't forget after everything will be in a different way ? Someone carries and brings you towards your end...