None Shall Be Spared

It has begun

For far too long we have accepted their ways The time has come for us to retaliate

Prey upon the worthless Erase them from the earth Their unborn shall be ripped out From their wombs And stomped into the dirt

In the cold morning breeze, the stench of misanthropy Their fallen shall be scattered for the vultures to feed They shall be taught the fiercest lessons of war And in the end they shall breathe forevermore

We, the bringers of Armageddon Embodied in unholy grace Filled with retribution and murderous rage Like an ironclad fist smashed into your god's face

No forgiveness granted, none shall be spared Wading knee-deep through your blood Encouraged by the sound of rendering flesh

None shall be spared!

A reign of fools now ended Two thousand years of lies Our hordes now rejoice in triumph As the sun erupts and dies

We preyed upon the worthless We erased them from the earth With salt we cleansed their tainted soil To forever remove their curse Naglfar