Want

Name Taken

been staring for a hundred hours run down a spiral drain keep mouth clamped tight, and it isn't right three words keep running round my mind but my tongue is hard to find i need to let it go, because i know dark secrets burn their vessel tearing out to grab a mouthful chunk of heart destroyed by quiet yell it out before it kills you now let it all out i want you...

used to let rumors do my work they got around real well now they only hurt, it's a liar's quirk this time i gotta say it straight i mean to do some good i'm calling out your name, while the chance remains

i want you...

so now you know where i come from my secret's come undone my heart revealed my cause i'm lying naked at your feet don't crush the heart that bleeds take me at my word, it may sound absurd but i want you...