Missing

Nana Mouskouri

You're missing You're gone Another lies beside you I've no doubt you're missing Conspiracies of silence hide you Keep me out They nearly had me believing That you did not exist But I know you really left me And how you are missed

You're missing The lover who was once around you Has no news You're missing And even if by change I found you I'd still lose For I know you're losing interest Instead of your heart The world turns around and leaves me Right back at the start I'm back at the start

They nearly had me believing That you did not exist But I know you really left me And how you are missed

You're missing The lover who was once around you Has no news You're missing And even if by change I found you I'd still lose For I know you're losing interest Instead of your heart The world turns around and leaves me Right back at the start I'm back at the start

You're missing You're gone Another lies beside you I've no doubt you're missing Conspiracies of silence hide you Keep me out How you are missed And how you are missed
