

When Love Comes Calling

Nana Mouskouri

When love comes calling
You'd better be at home
Nobody knows the pain of walking
Through this life alone

When love comes calling
Open up your door
They say that those who love grow stronger
Than they ever did before

And I believe there's still time to love somebody
Yes there's still time to hold someone
'Cause my life has been an empty story
Tossed and turned on every stone
But I pray there's time enough to find the one
My heart is longing for

When love comes calling
When love comes calling

When love comes calling
You'd better be around
'Cause love won't wait or hesitate
But leave without a sound

And I believe there's still time to love somebody
Yes there's still time to hold someone
'Cause my life has been an empty story
Tossed and turned on every stone
But I pray there's time enough to find the one
My heart is longing for

When love comes calling
Calling at your door
Comes calling at your door
Comes calling at your door
