

Million Ways

Naomi Terra

So you made, you made a few mistakes
You're not alone, people mess up everyday
Take the knife out from your back
And send them home
You don't need them anyways

So you thought he was your friend
You told them all, now it's all that you can do
To just sit there by the phone
Wait for a call that will never come for you
It's not your fault, you're wonderful

And now you've done it again
What more can you say
Just turn and walk the other way
Sometimes, some things just fall apart
There's a million ways to break
To break my heart, it's alright

As I look into the past
I see it all and it can't be rearranged
All the times I've been up against the wall
All those times that nothing changed
Looking into the past makes me want to scream

And now you've done it again
What more can you say
Just turn and walk the other way
Sometimes, some things just fall apart
There's a million ways to break
To break my heart, it's alright

Much too late to say goodbye
Tell me why you made me cry
Even as you walk away, I wish you would stay
You're wonderful, you're beautiful

And now you've done it again
What more can you say
Just turn and walk the other way
Sometimes, some things just fall apart
There's a million ways to break
