Relics

Nasum

Take aim at your promised land Where would you be without it? Destroy your legacy so grand No peace will halt your vengeance

And so again, what makes you settle so convinced? A relic that leaves no room for peace? So fragile it has always been Outside main focus

Your focus should be suffering Or have their cries made you go numb? Can't you see the enemy within? Blind with hate, you desecrate what brought you here

But then again, it makes you settle so convinced A relic that leaves no room for peace So fragile it has always been Outside your focus

Extinction, your final goal Now you're the relic

And so again, you stand here settled, so convinced Blindfolded, hate filled, without regrets

The center of attention Doomed, you stand and fight the flames Lit by your own hand You can't float upon the river of flame