

Your Love

Nat King Cole

Your eyes, are like the stars that sparkle up above
Your voice, is satin smooth and that reminds me of Your touch, with all the magic of a velvet glove
Your smile, can cast a spell and I hear the cooing of a turtle dove

Your frown, is rather like a dimple and a pout
Your lips, are sweet as wine and make me want to shout
Your love, would take a million words to tell about Your love, is something I could never do without

Your hair, gives off a glow that lights up any room
Your arms, surround me like a lily field in bloom
Your kiss, has got the wallop of a sonic boom
Your charms, intoxicate me just like a wonderful rare perfume

Your walk has got the move that I'm just wild about
Your wish could make me walk that celebrated route
Our love, would last a million years, there is no doubt
Your love, is something I could never live without

Your love is something I could never live without
I said, your love is something I could never live without
