

Everything & More

Natalia

I was living surrounded by different shades of grey With a dream that promised all the colours, then you came Nothing seemed to fit i tried to find my place I found my way through your grace

Suddenly, i'm waking up each day Carressed awake by your rays

You're giving me everything and more
No more colours to complete You're half the painting that is me
We're a masterpiece
And everyday i didn't know you,
You were still meant for me

You were still meant for me
I was breathing in and out but far from feeling alive With a dream that promised a kiss of live, then you came Now i'm living each and everyday under a rainbow sky
And you're the firefly lighting up my night

Always hoped the fairytale would happen to me
And i waited my turn so patiently Now i don't have to sleep to live out this dream
Our colours formed this masterpiece
