

Plastinated Birth

Natrium

Death lives through art
Guide the artist's hand
To carve bodies
To create human sculptures
A gallery of flesh masterpieces

Plastinated rebirth
From the eternal sleep
To admire the body complexity

Atavistic desires of eternity
Chasing the dream
To become forever immortal
To rise from the dead
As an artwork

The volunteers don't fulfill
The need for bodies
New creations
Made with unknown cadavers
Treated like raw materials
Their heads sliced
Their organs exposed
Their blood replaced with resins
Stripped of all their dignity

Need for more fresh corpses
The obsession to create
To rise above putrefaction

Maniacal anatomy
Synthesized in this macabre exposition
Representation of human fragility

A long and challenging process
To defy the laws of nature
