

Forever For You

Naturally 7

Can I take a little time now, to tell you how I feel, sorry I drifted away.

I know I've been a little distant, I guess I haven't been there for you, so much that I need to say.

You should know.>

I'm never gonna give up, I wouldn't give in. I promised you I'd love you through thick and thin.

And I just wanna stay in your arms.

Whenever I fall, you lift me up and you say, there's no need to worry it will all be o.k.

Whenever I wonder off and I lose my way, you always forgive me never turn me away.

This is true, and so I will be forever for you.

I know I've been a little selfish, I've been a little cold and tired, sorry I pushed us apart.

I should've let your love hold me, I should've opened up inside, instead of closing my heart.

Now I know.

And though I let you down you believed in me, you lead me with your love and you made me see.

That I was meant to be in your arms.

I've been caught up in my darker days and too blind to see.

But you were always there to love me unconditionally.

I will never let you go, just hold on to me.

Let me love you faithfully through it all.