

My Life Began With You

Neal McCoy

Every now and then
Somebody calls me on the phone
They wanna talk about old times we shared
I listen patiently
And laugh when I'm supposed to laugh
While I wonder, was I even there
I might be crazy, but to tell the truth
The past is hazy since I met you

I was born, I was raised
In a town in Indiana
Went to school, went to work
But that's all I remember
Til that night in your arms
When we laid down together
And that's when I knew
My life began with you

Momma said, I was a happy, well adjusted child
Ain't it funny what you don't recall
I'm sure I musta held a woman in my arms before
When I met you I forgot it all
Well, I tried lookin' into my past
It's like tryin' to see through smokey glass

I was born, I was raised
In a town in Indiana
Went to school, went to work
But that's all I remember
Til that night in your arms
When we laid down together
And that's when I knew
My life began with you

I might be crazy, but to tell the truth
The past is hazy since I met you

I was born, I was raised
In a town in Indiana
Went to school, went to work
But that's all I remember
Til that night in your arms
When we laid down together
And that's when I knew
My life began with you

With you
My life began with you
With you
