Sinner

Neil Finn

See it anyone got my eyes got my face Sing it everyone got my nose got my blood Conscience plays upon me now Safe until my luck runs out Cukoos call, pendulum swings I thought you knew everything Lift my hands, make the cross

Sinner, I have never learned Beginner, I cannot return Forever, I must walk this earth like some forgotten soldier

These things, I should keep to myself But I feel somehow strangely compelled Under moonlight, I stood wild and naked Felt no shame just my spirit awakened

Sinner Seein everything Got my eyes got my face Fireball drop from the sky All my dreams have come to pass Where's my faith, is it lost Can't see it 'til you cast it off

Sinner, there is no such thing Beginner, I have learned to sing Forever, I must walk this earth like some forgotten soldier

Today, I am still disconnected To the face that I saw in the clouds And the closest I get to contentment Is when all of the barriers come down

These things I should keep to myself But I feel somehow strangely compelled And the closest I get to contentment Is when all of the barriers come down

Sinner Sinner Got my eyes, got my face Seein anyone Got my nose, got my blood (I must walk this earth) Seein anyone Got my eyes, got my face
