Pretty Girls

Oh pretty girls, you're too good for this How you break my heart in this cold waiting room Oh pretty girls, you're too good for this Don't let them tell you you're nothing Don't let them break your hearts too

The TV is blaring and angry As if you don't know why you're here Those who walk without sin are so hungry Don't let the wolves in, pretty girls

Your hearts are so tried and so innocent Wind your flimsy blue gowns tight around you Around curves so comely and sinister They blame it on you pretty girls

Oh pretty girls, you're too good for this How you break my heart in this cold waiting room Oh pretty girls, you're too good for this Don't let them tell you you're nothing Don't let them break your hearts too

My girls, you're just like the heavens Not a soul to take your hand in theirs Your tears and wild constellations Broad limbs and hard folding chairs

But there's millions to count you and keep you And lovers that don't understand Don't let them tell you you're nothing 'Cause you'll change the world pretty girls

Come chain yourself from my ankles You'll see the world like a bird Diving down low, flying up high Thru all of these saccharine gutters we'll ride and I

Won't say that I told you so
