

Standing on the other side
But it's not you, it's too late to regret
At the end of the tunnel there's no light
Help me, I'm drowning in the sea of red

Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...

A thousand wounds penetrate my skin
This pain is unbearable, I'm about to give in
My blood is fixed with this strange kind of ink
Several hours of pressure - There was no time to think

Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...

Marked for life, left all alone
Out of this nightmare I suddenly was thrown
Living on an edge, colorate my skin
Am I dead or are my life about to begin

Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...
Standing on the other side...
