

A Greater Good

Neuroticfish

I don't agree
To your ancient and your pathetic point of view
I just don't see
That I can not be much better than all of you

Sometimes I think I'll falter, but I will never fall
And I know, that I'd rather should
For a greater good

It's all your belief
Your trust in this childish spirituality
You will be deceived
But don't you dare to question my purity

I know that I may falter, but I'm not afraid to fall
There is no way even if I could
For a greater good

But yes I know
In your eyes there is always hope for me
It's time to go
Your lost ones found a way to live free

Sometimes I think I'll falter, but I'm not afraid to fall
And I know, that I'd rather should
For a greater good
