

Flicker of Faith

New Eden

In the end when you have no place to go you will usually find faith even if it's just a flicker?

You live life without hope you hang yourself without a rope You're shallow and faithless you follow the soulless

Then one day fate tempts you faced with death it wakes you Then suddenly you scream out and realize the name you shout

Then, then you'll see That Faith, faith is free

And is your life complete
are you safe when you sleep
And does your mind surmise
that your soul without it cries

You fall down you blame yourself your fame fades remake yourself Your family rejects you, you realize faith's with you

Then the faith you see will set, will set you free

This is the life you need to believe in what you see And does your soul surmise that your mind without it cries

Live life never ending journey now take one day at a time Your faith should be forever burning when your soul is on the line

Your mind's now open your eyes now see the flickers of faith!

You tear down the only walls you walk on you heed the call You follow and scream out you realize the name you shout

Then, then you'll see that faith, faith is free

And is your life complete
are you safe when you sleep
And does your mind surmise
that your soul without it cries
