

Blurred Vision

New Found Glory

When we first met, I doubted myself
Could someone love to the level you do?
Or are you just excited for a fresh start?
Had reservations, I was dumb to assume
But it's all that I knew
It's all that I knew
Had blurred vision from all my head wounds
A victim of my own bitterness
A life I almost missed
I kick myself when I think of it

I'm giving up love
I'm giving up love
You're the one, love
You're the one, love

When I think back, I still get a feeling
I'm so ashamed of all the time that it took
For me to open my eyes
You brought me back when I was lost and confused
But it's all that I knew
It's all that I knew
Had blurred vision from all my head wounds
A victim of my own stubbornness
A life I almost missed
I curse myself when I think of it

I'm giving up love
I'm giving up love
You're the one, love
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
I'm giving up love
I'm giving up love

There's no grass greener on the other side
I planted my roots deep
This is for life
If there comes a time where your leaves might die
I'll water them
I'll water them for you
I'll water them

I'm giving up love
I'm giving up love
You're the one, love
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one

You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one, love
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
You're the one
You're the one
You're the one, love
I'm giving up love
I'm giving up love