

Say It Don't Spray It

New Found Glory

You're speaking the loudest
But you'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know you're just flesh and blood
Like all of us
You're speaking the loudest
You'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know what you're doing
When no one's looking

State your case
Your voice proud and bold
You lost soul
Dead to your own ways
On your pedestal
Your pat yourself on your own back
You tie bricks to your legs
Who are you to make demands?
You can't even shake my hand

You're speaking the loudest
But you'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know you're just flesh and blood
Like all of us
You're speaking the loudest
You'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know what you're doing
When no one's looking

No one's safe
We all fall victim to our own ways
Why don't you start there?
At your age, I don't see bags yet under your eyes
You haven't reached the hardest part
Who are you to make demands?
You can't even shake my hand

You're speaking the loudest
But you'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know you're just flesh and blood
Like all of us
You're speaking the loudest
You'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know what you're doing
When no one's looking

Who are you to make demands?
You can't even shake my hand
You're speaking the loudest
You're speaking the loudest
You're preaching the loudest
But you'll fall the hardest
'Cause you know what you're doing
When no one's looking
When no one's looking
You're speaking the loudest
But you'll fall the hardest
You're speaking the loudest

But you'll fall the hardest
