

Scraped Knees

New Found Glory

Looking back now I see how far I've gone it's been a while now for only one song past intentions I never ever meant to deal with now well just by looking around I don't think that I'll ever come down well you know right now that I am trying to change but believe now I'll try to change everything you know that I could rearrange and it gets harder and harder now well you know I want to change the past past intentions I never ever meant to deal with just by looking around well you know I tried so hard to change right now well just by looking around well I don't think that I'll ever come down all the way down