

At the Seams

Newton Faulkner

I've made mistakes
But every step of the way
Give me real love
Every time I get caught up in my pride
Give me real love
Feeling things I've never been feeling before
And all the while you just keep making me smile
You give me real love

As if your life wasn't hard enough, you chose me (2x)
It's bigger than you and it's bigger than me
Heaven and earth and everything in between
Looking in your eyes as your falling asleep
You whisper I love you and I burst at the seams

You've had so much and you can't get enough
You give me real love
With the rising sun and I know whatever will come
You give me real love
When you open the door
It's like the breaking of dawn
Time after time and after all of my crimes
You give me real love

As if your life wasn't hard enough, you chose me (2x)
It's bigger than you and it's bigger than me
Heaven and earth and everything in between
Looking in your eyes as your falling asleep
You whisper I love you and I burst at the seams

I'm not in doubt
Or in denial
You too good for me too good for me by miles
I just want to meet
I just want to be where you are, where you are
It's bigger than you and it's bigger than me
Heaven and earth and everything in between
Looking in your eyes as your falling asleep
You whisper I love you and I burst at the seams
