

Feel

Newton Faulkner

I, don't know what you want from me
And you, you don't know who you want me to be
I'm breaking all my rules again
And I pretend it's not for you

And I, I'm lost in the advice
And you, You think you have to tell me twice
I'm fading out, I'm wearing thin
I'm giving up on giving in

It's this what you want from me
Is this all
Cause I will break my back for you
If you break me fall
And I will try to feel how you feel inside
I'll be nothing more, than a distracting noise to you
Take your mind off it
If that's what you need
Then I will try to feel how you feel inside, inside
If it will ease your mind

I'll, I'll make a promise to you now
I, I promise I'll pull through somehow
I'm bringing out the truth again
I'm breaking through, the walls are caving in

It's this what you want from me
Is this all
Cause I will break my back for you
If you break me fall
And I will try to feel how you feel inside
I'll be nothing more, than a distracting noise to you
Take your mind off it
If that's what you need
Then I will try to feel how you feel inside, inside
If it will ease your mind

I, I figured it out
This, has left me with no doubt
I don't mind a little rain
I won't let it ruin my day
It's only water from the sky
The hard times make it all worth while
In the end it all wash away

It's this what you want from me
Is this all
Cause I will break my back for you
If you break me fall
And I will try to feel how you feel inside
I'll be nothing more, than a distracting noise to you
Take your mind off it
If that's what you need
Then I will try to feel how you feel inside, inside
If it will ease your mind
