

I'll Take Everything

Niceland

I just don't want to own anything
That could easily break or get stolen
I swear I mean it this time
I swear I mean it... this time

I won't break my vows for a numb skin
I won't take a break from this torture
I swear I won't promise
I swear I won't promise

So just say what you want
What you've had, What you've given
Oh, just say what you want
What you've lost, What's forgiven

I'll take everything, I'll take everything

Nothing touches me, can't you see that
You're not even worth a song to me
Does that make you less of a person?
Does that make me less of a person?

I would take a bribe of a conscience
I would walk away through empty fields
I swear I won't kill the ease
I swear I won't kill the ease

I want all I had and didn't know I was having
And I had warming sleep, silky dreams of awakening
And I gave less than anyone would do to deserve it
And I gave less than anyone would do to deserve it
I'll take everything
