

You're not the only one

Nick Kamen

A million miles away from here
We're in the clouds
We just don't care
You know it's right
You have the chance to say why
I take you in
You lead the way
Your rivers warm
It's a sunny day
You know it's right
You have the chance to say why
You're not the only one I care about
You know it's hard enough to be without you
I leave it up to you
Why should I say why?
Among the crowd
The lonely faces
Someone dies
Then someone chases
You know the crime
You have the right to say why
She's underage - She's underrated
So overpaid so overstated
You know it's wrong
You have the right to say why
You're not the only one I care about
You know it's hard enough to be without you
I leave it up to you why should I say why?
Well alright
You know I understand
Well it's alright
Who knows if they'll be tomorrow?
You're not the only one - You're not the only one
Why should I cry?
You're not the only one - You're not the only one
Why I should I say why?
Well alright you know I understand
- well it's alright
Who knows if they'll be tomorrow
You're not the only one I care about
You know it's hard enough to be without
I leave it up to you
Why should I say why?
You're not the only one I care about
You know it's hard enough to be without
I leave it up to you
Why should I say way?
Fade