I Don't Want To Go Home

Nick Mulvey

I was happy in the day and I was minding my own When she saw the better out of me. She told me I could be a maker Though I'd probably make only half of what I need. Waking early next morning in a sleeping bag alone Well darling you give me no warning And I don't want to go home

I don't want to go home I don't wanna go home I think of you I've always known Nobody's ever born alone.

But the one time I mistake her She back-flipped the breath out of me She could see I could be a maker And yes I make-believe her make-ups on my sleeve

But how often a love so come along? Come rapping and kicking at your door? How often a love so come along? But you say you don't want me anymore.

So I don't want to go home Cause I'm already home I think of you I've always known Nobody's ever born alone.

How often a love so come along? Come rapping and kicking at your door? How often a love so come along? But you say you don't want me anymore.

So I don't want to go home Cause I'm already home I think of you I've always known Nobody's ever born alone.

In the fire I find the snow Illusion come, illusion go. In the fire I find the snow Illusion come, illusion go.
