Nicky Romero

Love the way they all keep talking
Everybody likes the sound
But no one ever hears me crying, crying out

I think you're saying what you mean now
I feel it when you take me close
Something's telling me that I should let you know

You make it feel like home
You make it feel like home

Never been so scared of losing
But never understood the calm
So take me where I wanna be, back in your arms

Cause you make it feel like home
You make it feel like home

Only you only you only do this
Only you only you only do this
And it's never the same cause

You make it feel like home
You make it feel like home
