

Still A Dream

Nicole C. Mullen

Someday we'll open our eyes
And finally discover
We are united by one blood.
Then we would realize
We're sisters and brothers
And what the world needs now is love.

There's a dreamer inside each one of us
Who wants to believe that;

There is still a dream to believe in,
There is still a hope after hope is gone,
We can be the Father's hands, give love a chance
And show the world there is still a dream.

We've got to let freedom ring
To each generation
For every man, woman, boy, and girl.
And teach the whole world to sing
Like one congregation
In harmony around the world.

We've come too far to turn back now
But I do believe that;

There is still a dream to believe in,
There is still a hope after hope is gone,
We can be the Father's hands, give love a chance
And show the world there is still a dream.

Cause everyone needs one
No one is freed from
The worries of life that drag us down
From every nation, for generations,
We can stand together and say;

There is still a dream to believe in,
There is still a hope after hope is gone,
We can be the Father's hands, give love a chance
And show the world there is;

There is still a dream to believe in,
There is still a hope after hope is gone,
We can be the Father's hands, give love a chance
And show the world, show the world, show the world

There is still
There is still a dream
There's a dream
I have a dream
You have a dream
Have a dream
Every boy, every girl
Everyone in the world
We can show the world, show the world
