Dream Of Summer Days

Sunday morning I wake up at sunrise I was my face hard For my first date At the station she ignores me To my face she just says goodbye

In your life time Will you have the same scene That I came across this time? What will you do if You are told "Goodbye" When you want somebody to love?

My love life ended all at once I haven't found the reason yet

Everyday I dream of summer days My broken heart aches I do still feel so bad Everynight I pray For a cloudy sky I'll never cry again I may have found my answer

I go walking For a long long way To meet someone that I need

In broad daylight I want to scream aloud I was born to love this woman Everybody, why do you ignore me? Out in public they Kill their emotions

In your life time Will you have the same scene That I came across this time? What will you do if you are Told "You don't fit!" When you want Somebody to love?
