Losing Myself

Nightingale

Losing time
Counting hours, I'll never see myself again
And even though I'm alone I can't remember what I'm missing
So I leave it be

Closing down
I expect the hopelessness and everything
And even though I'm alone I can't remember what I'm missing
And It's all I need

I am lost, I feel I am sinking now
Like I was made of rain
Like a wave I roll into the endless night

I'm not afraid as the darkness tries to make its way
I breathe as hard as you as I end my day
I sigh in silence as I try to sink that deep
As deep as you and make sure that I won't fall asleep

Losing days
I Need no hours, I'll never be myself again
And even though it's killing me I can't remember what I'm missi ng
So I leave it be

I'm closing down
I expect the hopelessness again at night
And even though it's killing me I can't remember what I'm missi
ng
But it might be you

I am lost, I feel I am sinking now
Like I was made of rain
Like a wave I roll into the endless night

I'm not afraid as the darkness tries to make its way
I breathe as hard as you as I end my day
I sigh in silence as I try to sink that deep
As deep as you and make sure that I won't fall asleep

I'm not afraid as the darkness tries to make its way
I breathe as hard as you as I end my day
I sigh in silence as I try to sink that deep
As deep as you and make sure that I won't fall asleep