

Valentine

Nils Lofgren

Today I'm thinkin' about the world we live in
All the love and hate that's floatin' around
All the times I felt so lost and helpless
You stood by me, you never let me down
Still I keep throwin' up these walls

Most of them I've built with stones
You tear 'em down and bridge the distance
Knowin' we ain't here to be alone
So let your blue heart open wide

Let's never leave our dreams behind
It would comfort and restore my pride
If you let me be your valentine
Our differences are part of life

Still love will pass the test of time
I want you everyday and night
Girl, won't you be my valentine be my valentine
oh

Be my valentine
Be my valentine
