

The Bitter End

NIM VIND

Halfway into Madness

Walls are closing in on my lonely world
And it gets me down the highway to the end of town

You know, halfway into Madness
That roiling Black Sky tattooed all my life
And it gets me down to somewhere deep down
You know, sometimes that's what you call
a 'Teen Heart Throb'
Trapped in the moment in time
And that's the time when his Heart Stops
And you get lost in the memory's eyes
And that's the Heart's frantic pace

You know, halfway into Madness
A loneliness' that gets you down the deepest dream Sends you into something you still don 't understand
You know, sometimes, Somehow, the Madness of that Hour
That Trouble you'll find You'll find it and you know that it will change you

You know, sometimes that's what you call
a 'Teen Heart Throb'
Trapped in the moment in time
And that's the time when his Heart Stops
And you get lost in the memory's eyes
And that's the Heart's frantic pace
Reach out to the memory's arms
And feel it Vanish
