

Runaway

Nina Hagen

I can't be where I am, I've gotta get away
Somewhere as far as I can from you
Somehow it is very clear
I'm getting bored very easily
Maybe somewhere else everybody will be more friendly

And I just wanna get away from everything I know
Runaway, as far as I can go
Runaway, runaway, runaway with my new man any day

Sneaking through them all, that's what it comes down to
No one is around in the morning, I can't help feeling so blue
I'm walking on down the sidewalk,
I really know what it's like to be alone now,
But my heart starts beating out (loud?)
when those kids drive by me in their car

And I just wanna get away from everything I know
Runaway, as far as I can go
Runaway, with my true love any day

Runaway, runaway...

I just wanna get away from everything I know
Runaway, as far as I can go
Runaway, runaway, runaway with my true love any day...
