Can't Say I Love You

Hey baby, we just met I have him You have her If we fall for each other Would it be unfair loving one another this way

You see I love him so much and you love her too but baby when I met you I felt love so true

Can't say that I love you but I do Can't say that I miss you though it's true Sometimes I feel I wanna kiss you And hold you in my arms so tight but all I can do is stop myself from loving you

If only I have met you before When no one else was knockin' on my door I'll let you in to my heart When maybe that's the start Of a promise that we'll never be apart

But if you and Me Are not meant to be Lets just set each other free Let it be

And if you and me together means forever Then lets take the chance and build this romance

But if lovin' each other would only mean never let fate bring us back to our lovers Who promised us Forever
