

Still Gonna Be

Nina

All around I see
A world of such uncertainty
There's so very little we can depend on If's there one thing you can trust is that you'll always have my love
There's nobody else for me who could ever mean as much

I'm so happy now 'cause I know what it's like
To have someone be your everything in life

Till all the stars fall from the sky
Till all the oceans all run dry
And even if they do, still gonna be loving you
And when the sun runs out of light
And when the day won't turn to night
Even when the sky's no longer blue
Still gonna be right there loving you

You brighten up my days
In so many special ways
And you've made a change in me
I'd never thought I'd see

Oh, that is why I wanna keep giving you more
Make each moment better than the one before

Lovin' you's the air I breathe
Something I can't live without You brought a whole new to What true love's all about

Till all the stars fall from the sky
Till all the oceans all run dry
And even if they do,
I'd still be loving you
