Get back together aah This is a very interesting situation I sense a gradual loss of communication Don't you think I can see you're changing on You're heading into a completely new direction And I am having trouble making the adaptation Don't you think I can see you're changing on me Let's get back together Let's get back forever Let's get back together Let's get back Let's get back together Let's get back forever Let's get back together Let's get back If I may be so bold by making a suggestion Please ask yourself why you are making this transition Don't you think I can see, you're changing on me Everytime I think of us I just want to make it how it was Before we had much more When I think of me and you I just can't believe that we are through I can't ignore the fact you closed the door When I think back, we had a beautiful relationship But I see the future, what's there for me is devastation from you Don't you think I can see, you're changing on me Let's get back together Let's get back forever Let's get back together Let's get back Let's get back together Let's get back forever Let's get back together Let's get back Back together, back together, back together, back together Back together, back together, back together, back together Everytime I think of us I just want to make it how it was

Ah before we had much more

When I think of me and you I just can't believe that we are through
I can't ignore the fact you closed the door

Don't you think IEcan see Don't you think I can see Don't you think I can see You're changing

Get on back, get on back
I wanna get back
