i don't believe that they know it's time so up to speed but too far to see behind

it's so beat on both ends and what possesses you to pretend?
once tasted, farewell
time to appreciate myself

the hanging wall is moving, proving me wrong but what started out as nothing it seems is gone and if a question's only something in your head to bring along...