Angel Gets Caught In The Beauty Trap

I step out of the shadows And into the bright day, I cannot breathe For the smoke and the city smells. My head comes alive With the humming of engines, I cannot scream For the dust in my throat. I stare at the lovers As they stand in the doorway, I cannot dream For the dirt on my hands. I came to this place with A lifetime of memories; Falling apart Like the shoes on my feet. Even now I see you fall Even now I see you fall Even now I see you fall Your arms stretching out. I remember the hot sand. I remember the blue sky. We sat side by side And traded our names. I remember the sweet air. I remember the time when I fell in love Only to cry in my sleep. Even now I see you fall Even now I see you fall Even now I see you fall Your arms stretching out. Even now I sometimes call Even now I sometimes call Even now I sometimes call Your name in the night In my dream I feel you breathing In my dream I feel you breathe In my dream I feel you breathing In my dream I feel you breathe
