God Save

No Motiv

I look around me, a place filled with hate We do what we can with the words that we say In this life time I will never see a place that we can live in compatibly But will there be a turn of the tide Will anyone listen to the people who cried Is there hope for a world that's so cruel For this I pleed, God save the world! God save the world! God save the world!