

Where Did You Go

No Motiv

I'll be there all the way beside you in the dark
We'll watch the sunrise from the storm
And when the rain of your despair became
Too much to bear
You left me
Please tell me

Where'd you go, where'd you go?
Where'd you put your heart this time around?
Did it go sour from sweet?
Where'd you go, where'd you go?
Where'd you put your soul that it can't be found?
I don't know where it could be
Maybe somewhere at the crossroads
Where our dreams and fears reside
Where someday we can surely find

And as you slowly made your way across the room
You turned your back, I looked away
The cheap thrill fame instilled
Meant more than the friend you had
I don't understand

Where'd you go, where'd you go?
Where'd you put your heart this time around?
Did it go sour from sweet?
Where'd you go, where'd you go?
When did you cash your soul in for the gold?
To buy esteem, I hope it was worth it all
Worst of all
When you walked out on my trust you stole a little piece of my own
Blood and tears that I poured
Into what was once now feels in vain
I wonder, can you feel my pain?

The first times, the magic
The memories the regrets
The dreams, the hardships
That old friend back then was
The best I ever had
Now there's no turning back

And once upon a time you told me that your heart was in its place
I guess it slipped as with your pride did
How unfortunate
A story ending sorely in the sense you chose to take the easiest way out
It's over now

I'll be there all the way beside you in the dark
We'll watch the sunrise from the storm
And when the rain of your despair became
Too much to bear
You left me
Where'd you go?
