He doesn't know what's wrong it's been this way for much too long and nothing could be easier than blaming this on her kicking in the womb she brings it up he leaves the room walk away all he has to say you got what you deserve

It's your fault I don't think that it's even mine and I guess there's not much in his little mind It's a shame when it happens everyday

He doesn't stop to think that every bottle that he drinks is just an additive to ignorance hence problems that exist lay down on the bed and dream of glory days instead not egocentric attitudes solved problems with a fist

I don't understand why he can get so mad she don't want it either but it's too late dad It's not right and I doubt next time I'll think twice

Pretend that they're lovers but she feels like a slave how could I even know? she's sinking to the bottom and he can't feel her pain too late cause the seeds were sown

Growing down instead of up where you belong always weak when you're requested to be strong it's a shame when it happens everyday You're growing down You're growing down