No Use for a Name

A knock at the door I open it up in comes the queen All dressed to perfection Awaiting reception but in my mind one thought to flee The look in her eye has crossed paths with mine And stills the last time we met Suppression has started like last when we parted I wish she would just stay away. She's just a power bitch That I already know She's just a power bitch Straight from the depths below She's just a power bitch Domination her game She's just a power bitch I think I'm going insane Now she comes in, flashes the grin Seals the door just like my fate Off with her clothes, stone cold I am froze Out comes the beast from within Whipping and slashing, kicking and slapping A girl I can't handle, I hope this is all just a dream She's just a power bitch.