

Growing Silent

No Warning

I won't break the silence just 'cause you ask me
I won't change anything for anybody
Somewhere out there I know there's something for me
I try and listen to my own words
They don't make sense
I know exactly what I'm thinking
The words don't come out
If they did, would it matter?
Would you listen?
I won't break the silence just 'cause you ask me
I won't change anything for anybody
If I'm not quiet - I'm thinking.
Don't ask what about
There's a reason for the silence and why the words don't come out
If they did, would it matter?
Would you listen?
Left alone, for how much longer
It doesn't kill me
I feel stronger