Over My Shoulder

No Warning

You think I don't know - but I know You can try and take away what I love There are certain moments in life And this is one I will take advantage of I rise - the path I take is filled with graves Save your words. Don't think my worlds your own What I've learned is all I've got now This time I do it alone