

The Current State Of Things

Noah Gundersen

I'm always tired but I won't sleep tonight
And I'm all run dry
I can't turn off the light

Because all that I've been living for
Is a better way to make it
All that I've been living for is a dream
With the magazines and television
Calling out my name
All that I want lately is a change

Lines, yellow and white
Are all I'm thinking of
These days, oh
And time will change our minds
But not as fast as life

And I've found that I am not so strong
And I've found that I've a long, long way to go

Because all that I've been living for
Is a better way to make it
And all that I've been living for is a dream
With the magazines and television
Calling out my name
All that I want lately
Is a change
Is a change
