Wasting your life on the sidewalk When you can be out on the street dodging cars As they go by the wind goes right through you

Life on the edge of a razor Never knowing when you're to fall Sure as hell beats never gambling at all

Life's too short to just barely exist Wide spread mediocracy Will suck you up, resist Another number on a list

I don't want it, you can have it
You can try but you won't make me
Feel the things you feel
I'll take my chances 'til I find a better deal
I'll take my chances along with all the rest

The snail goes over the razor blade
The suicide squad of lemmings parade
To their kingdom where they've made their reservation

I have no reservation
I don't think my seat's been saved
I'll take my chances here, right