

A dream for the weaker

Nomy

He's still awake and he wonders
If all this fucking pain will make him stronger

He falls away and in to the night
Creating reality in this way feels all right

This is a dream for the weaker
Living in a dream just to get her

They're are alone standing in the dark
And Then She told him with a whisper

This is a dream for the weaker
Living in a dream just to meet her

This is a dream for the weaker
Time to wake up for the sleeper

He can't hold on any longer
He starting to come back but he wants her

She fades away and into the night
Creating reality in this way feels all right

Tonight you feel ok But when I'm gone during the day
You walk alone but you can always dream away

Tonight you feel ok why would you leave why don't you stay
You walk alone when you're awake you're getting grey