You better die young

Hey little girl on your way to class Loved by all cause you got that ass Cutest eyes and the greatest smile For a year, for a time, for a little while

Somebody told me that you got old Looking for someone thats made of gold Hey little girl on your way to class In a year they'll be gone cause you are an ass

No one's gonna love you when you're old Thats what they told you better stay young baby No one's gonna care when you are gone So if you're done you better die young baby

Hey little girl on your way to prom One little night then your life is gone All that you had is a fairytale Now you're standing alone wonder why did you fail

Somebody told me that you're ok Somebody told me you passed away Life aint coming back for you

No one's gonna love you when you're old Thats what they told you better stay young baby No one's gonna care when you are gone So if you're done you better die young baby

Why don't they ever speak of you now Is it to much to do who gives a shit about you Why do you remember me now when you're old and you're blue Won't give a shit about you

One little boy on his way to school No body likes him cause he's not cool Thin little arms and a ugly smile For a year for a time for a litle while

How could you leave him alone Now when he's gone No one's gonna love you when you're old Thats what I'm told you better stay young baby

No one's gonna care when you are gone So if you're done you better die young baby I cant love you anymore I got so much to do wont give a shit about you So baby, now lately, you remember me

No one's gonna care when you are gone So if you're done you better die young baby no one's gonna love you when you're old Thats what they told you better stay young baby

No one's gonna care when you are gone So lf you're done you better die young baby
